

Silver Nanoplates

Plasmonic Nanoparticles

Hollow Gold Nanoshells

Plasmonic metal nanoparticles exhibit optical properties that can be tuned across the visible and near-infrared regions of the electromagnetic spectrum. This makes them highly useful in numerous applications including molecular detection, environmental sensing, photovoltaics, clinical diagnostics, and cancer treatment.

